DESTROYED BY AN INCENDIARY

House Belonging to Non-Association Man in Tennessee Burned.

OPEN DEFIANCE SHOWN

Second Fire Occurs While Official Was Probing First One.

Clarksville, Tenn., Nov. 19.—A vacant dwelling house owned by W. E. Wall, near Fredonia, was destroyed by fire Monday night. The house was not occupied and is supposed to have been set on fire. Mr. Wall is not a member of the farmers' association and last August after warnings to join the association, his general merchandise store was burned, entailing a loss of several thousand dollars. Monday Deputy Insurance Commissioner Thompson was here investigating the burning of the store, and a number of witnesses summoned before him refused to testify.

There seemed to be considerable feeling over the investigation, in which it is claimed the Insurance Commissioner exceeded his authority in that he probed into matters other than the house burning. Tracks were found around the house last night and bloodhounds were placed on the scent in an effort to apprehend the guilty parties.

TITLE IS NOW PRESIDENT HOGE

Unthought Honor Conferred on Hopkinsville Young Man.

HE WILL MAKE GOOD

K. I. T. Association Held Important Meeting Last Week.

The executive committee of the Kentucky Independent Telephone association met in Louisville last week.

Matters of interest came before the meeting, and among other things was the resignation of M. B. Overby, the president of the association. Mr. Overby stated that his reason for surrendering the office was the fact that he intended to leave Louisville and locate in Cleveland, Ohio.

The resignation was accepted and Mr. Frank G. Hoge was elected president, to serve the remainder of the term for which Mr. Overby had been chosen. So Mr. Hoge will hold the office of president until next June.

The committee made a wise selection. No one in this section is more familiar with telephone affairs than Mr. Hoge. He not only understands every detail of his business, but his courtesy and genial manner have made him hosts of friends wherever he has gone. He is well known out in the state and the selection will meet with general approval.

The honor was conferred without Mr. Hoge's solicitation or knowledge. He did not have the least idea of what had been done until he received formal notice from the executive committee, through their secretary, P. S. Payne. Mr. Payne is also one of the executive board. Mr. Hoge's many friends here are satisfied that he will "make good" in his new position.

Mr. Hoge, who is connected with the Home Telephone Co., of this city has been making his headquarters at Pembroke for some time, superintending the business of the company during the installation of its service there. He says that for the present he will make his office in Pembroke, attending to the duties of his new and old positions.

GENTS FURNISHERS.

New Firm Will Locate Here In January.

A new firm of gents furnishers, Roseborough & Sibley, who have a big house at Sewanee, Tenn., will open a store here in January, in a room on Main street. They are said to be experienced and progressive merchants, who will be a valuable addition to the mercantile ranks.

GLAMOR FOR THE BRIDGE

Grows More Insistent Every Day As Winter Approaches.

ANNOYING DELAY

Vincennes Bridge Co. Has Been Hindered by Delay of Iron Mills.

A serious trouble has arisen in regard to the new bridge on North Main street. The contract was made last July with the Vincennes Bridge Co. and the bridge was to be completed Nov. 15. During the summer a temporary footbridge was constructed near the water, which was floating yesterday and rendered unpassable, and in danger of being swept away, although anchored to trees on the banks.

In the meanwhile a delay has occurred in shipping the bridge. The Mayors has been pressing the contractors to hurry but up to yesterday the bridge had not been shipped from Vincennes, Ind. They are delayed by a failure of the mills to furnish the 20 inch cross beams, promised Oct. 5. They were next promised Nov. 1, but have not yet been shipped, although the contractors write that they are using all possible pressure to expedite matters. The rainy season has set in, winter is at hand and the residents of the North side are being but to very much inconvenience, as there are no pavements on the new street, which extends half a mile out of the way around the bend of the river. The abutments have been ready for the bridge three weeks, but nothing can be done until the iron structure arrives. Even the footbridge is liable to be swept away.

SATISFACTORY SALE

Good Money in Trotting Bred Colts.

That there is good money in trotting bred colts was shown by the sale at Van Cleave's farm last Saturday. The sale was conducted by J. E. McCown and proves that the right kind, in the right condition, well broken, that can go, and show that they have speed ready made are in demand and command good prices. The six owned by Van Cleave and McCown sold for $1,762.00, four 2 year old, one 3 year old and the 4 year old stallion, Happy Heine, that sold for $500 the highest price paid. He was purchased by C. C. Carter, of St. Elmo, Ky.

Moved up Town.

Mr. P. C. Richardson has moved her dress making establishment from over the millinery store of Kennedy & Co., to the Hopper building opposite the courthouse. The sample room is over the Racket store in the Summers building.

L. & N. WINS

In a Suit Against Them for $25,000 Damages.

The suit of Ellen Murray, administratrix of John Murray, against the L. & N. Railroad company, tried at Bowling Green, resulted in a verdict for defendant. Murray was killed in a wreck near Clarksville about a year ago, his train running into some cars that were standing on the track. The suit was for $25,000 damages.

Hotel Latham Bar.

Charles Morris, late of Clarksville, has leased the Hotel Latham bar, and will apply to the council for permission to re-open the bar, which has been closed since the hotel changed hands October 1st. Mr. Morris conducted the bar for three years when the hotel was first opened.

LAW AND ORDER TO RULE STATE

Governor-elect Willson So
Declares in an Indianapolis Interview.

TAYLOR AND FINLEY.

New Executive Says If They Return They Will Get Speedy Trials.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 17.—Augustus E. Willson, Republican Governor-elect of Kentucky, with Mrs. Willson, who are on their way to Washington, stopped here today with relative. In an interview this evening, Mr. Willson said that if William S. Taylor, former Governor of Kentucky, and Charles Finley, former Secretary of State, under indictment for complicity in the murder of Gov. William Goebel, return to the State he intends to see that their lives are protected and that they get an abundantly fair and impartial trial. He declined to discuss the case of Caleb Powers, but declared that he wants him also to have a fair and impartial trial.

Mr. Willson denied the report that he had come to Indianapolis to see ex-Governor Taylor. "I could not see to see Mr. Taylor who may have a case before me," declared the Governor-elect. "I do not want to see him now, and I am sure that he does not want to see me. The cases of Messrs. Taylor and Finley, like that of Caleb Powers, are on the court dockets of the State of Kentucky and must be tried just like any other case. But if Mr. Taylor and Mr. Finley come back to Kentucky they must have a speedy trial and a fair and impartial one."

Continuing, he said: "Neither of these men want anything else as I understand it. The people of Kentucky are tired of hearing of these cases. I shall take my office as Governor Dec. 10, and I can not act except for the people. When I take my oath of office I will be a sworn officer under the law. I do not intend to act any other way. "Messrs. Taylor and Finley will come when I send for them, and I will send for them at the proper time. That will be when I find that the case is ready to try them. I shall protect them when they come, and shall insist that they have a fair trial. I am convinced that they were turned out of office by fraudulent action of the legislature after they were elected by clear majorities. All Kentucky knows that as well as I. These men know they will get a fair trial when they return."

"During the four years that I am governor we are going to have law and order in Kentucky." William S. Taylor, former governor of Kentucky, when seen tonight reiterated his statement that he is willing to go back to Kentucky for trial when he can get justice. When Gov.-elect Willson's statements were read to him he said that, in his opinion, Mr. Willson has taken the proper view of things.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Takes the sting out of cuts, burns or bruises at once. Pain can not stay where it is used.

UNJUST TAX PLAN

The Tax Commissioners of the States Agree

In Denouncing General Tax System
Like Ours—Full of Evils
In Operation.

In discussing tax questions in Kentucky and elsewhere, frequent reference is made to the "general property tax." This is the kind of system Kentucky has in force. It is the system that is in force in most of the states.

Briefly, the general property tax is a uniform ad valorem tax levied upon all classes of property alike, regardless of the nature, of the earning capacity or of the tangible or intangible character of the property. The taxing authority of a state, for instance, will levy the tax on 50 cents of value of property on every kind of property alike. Everything of value, whether real estate, money in bank, notes, bonds, mortgages, shares of stock, live stock, wagons, carriages, jewelry, furniture, any sort of personal property, or franchises of corporations is called property and must pay this tax. This is the general property tax. The general property tax is, therefore, the levying of a uniform ad valorem tax on all property for all purposes.

As distinct from this system is the system of classifying property, raising state revenues from one kind of property, county revenues from another kind of property and city revenues from still another kind, and also the raising of revenues by special taxes of various kinds. The argument in the tax world today is between these two systems of raising the public revenue.

The Kentucky system is the general property tax. Our Constitution binds us to the levy of a uniform ad valorem tax on all property of every kind for all purposes. If a piece of property located in the state is taxed for one purpose, it must be taxed for all. It is a property-earning 6 per cent return to its owner, it must pay the same tax as property earning 20 per cent. It is a kind that can be removed or hidden if it is taxed the same as real estate—if it can be found. No distinction is made on any account whatever; all property must pay the same rate.

This sounds like a very fair system, and in theory, it is fairness itself. But its operation, in the opinion of those who have studied the question, in Kentucky only but in every state in the Union, has not borne out the promise made for it. The system has been abandoned in Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Oregon, and partially in a number of other states. The rapid tendency of the state is to get away from it, as impossible and impracticable. Nearly every state that has a tax commission has declared itself very frankly on this question. A large number of states have within the last few years appointed tax commissions to carefully study the methods of raising public revenues and, almost invariably, the report of these commissions have denounced the general property tax system, the system that we have in Kentucky, as being absurd, impossible of enforcement and unjust in its operation.

Denounced by Supreme Court. The supreme court of the United States leads the way in denouncing the system. In its opinion in the case of the Pacific Express Co. vs. Seibert, the court said:

"This court has repeatedly laid down the doctrine that diversity of taxation, both with respect to the amount imposed and the various species of property selected either for bearing the burden or being exempt from them, is not inconsistent with a perfect uniformity and equality of taxation in the proper sense of those terms; and that a system which imposes the same tax upon all species of property, irrespective of its nature or condition or class, will be destructive of the principle of uniformity and equality in taxation and of a just adaptation of property to its burdens."

An Illinois tax commission has declared that the uniform ad valorem general property tax, the system that we have also in Kentucky, is "debasing to the conscience and subversive to the public morals—a school for perjury, promoted by law."

An Ohio tax commission has denounced it as "imposing unjust burdens on the man who is scrupulously honest," and Ohio is engaged in an effort to get rid of it.

A New Hampshire tax commission declares it "corrupting and demoralizing influence."

A New York tax commission says: "It puts a premium on perjury and a penalty on integrity."

In an address to the general assembly of Maryland, Richard T. Ely, one of the foremost of our publicists, said: "The one uniform tax on all property as an exclusive source of revenue never has worked well in any modern country or state in the entire civilized world, though it has been tried thousands of times, and although all the mental resources of able men have been employed to make it work well."

Prof. E. A. Angell, late tax commissioner of Ohio, said in an article in the Independent: "The indirect results of the operation of the law have been to drive away large masses of capital from the state. It is estimated that at least $200,000,000 has been lost to Cleveland alone and as much more to Cincinnati."

A Heavy Load to Carry

"ALL IS WELL, THAT ENDS WELL."

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness and general ill-health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be properly digested, and its products assimilated by the system. On the other hand the blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion, and in turn the nerves are not fed on good, red blood, and we see symptoms of nervousness, sleeplessness and general breakdown. It is not head work that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor, thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip, bronchitis and consumption. Fortify the body at once with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—a rare combination of native medicinal roots without a particle of alcohol or dangerous drugs.

No man is stronger than his stomach. Let the greatest athlete have dyspepsia, and his muscles would soon fail. Physical strength is derived from food. If a man has insufficient food, he loses strength. If he has no food he dies. Food is converted into nutrition through the stomach and bowels. It depends on the stomach to what extent food is digested and assimilated. People can die of starvation who have abundant food to eat, when the stomach and its associate organs of digestion and nutrition do not perform their duty. Thus the stomach is really the vital organ of the body. If the stomach is "weak" the body will be weak also, because it is upon the stomach that body relies for its strength. And as the body is made up of a system of organs, the weakness of the body is a consequence of the weakness of the organs. The organs of the body are composed of the heart, liver, kidneys, etc., being proportionately weak according to the amount of the reduction of their daily ration of nutrition.

By way of example take the case of the Assistant Treasurer of the Catholic Church, Quebec, Mr. Louis F. Gauthier, who writes:

"For years after my health began to fail, my head grew dizzy, eyes failed me, and my stomach was sore all the time, while everything I took hurt my stomach. The doctor prescribed for me, and although I took their powders regularly, yet I felt no better. My wife advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and stop taking the doctor's medicine. This brought me a bottle and we soon found that began to improve, so I kept up the treatment, and I soon began to feel like a different person. I can never cease to be grateful for what your medicine has done for me, and I certainly give it highest praise."

To refute the most false and malicious attacks, bogus formulas and other untruthful statements published by competitors and disgraced medicine men, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has decided to publish all the ingredients entering the composition of this medicine. Hereafter every bottle of this medicine leaving the great Laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., will bear upon it a full list of all the ingredients entering into the composition, printed in plain English.

These ORIGINAL Little Blue Pills, first put up by Dr. J. C. Pierce, have been made by the same process and are made of pure vegetable, concentrated and reduced medicinal principles. They speedily relieve and cure all the ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels and their attendant dyspepsia. One or two a day, three or four a cathartic.

Gov. Beckham's Thanksgiving proclamation contained only 105 words.

Italy had another earthquake Monday that shook up the province of Reggio de Calabria. The same province was visited October 27 and the people are in a state of terror.

Gov. Patterson's attempts to break up night riding in Tennessee seem to have made the night riders worse. The Davies county plan of having a vigilance committee may be the proper one after all.

Thos. B. Harrison, general attorney of the L. & N. railroad at Louisville, has gone to New York to be attorney for the American and Adams Express Companies at a salary exceeding $12,000 a year.

The Mississippi river carries out a greater amount of dirt each year, during its summer floods, than will be dug from the Panama Canal, and the problem of saving its farms and its navigation is daily becoming more difficult. The Inland Waterways commission, recently appointed by the president, has made an expedition down the Mississippi, and were one and all deeply impressed by the perceptible lack of navigation and shipping.

BRIDE TURNS PURPLE HUE

On Eve of Wedding Changes Color and Mystery Puzzles Doctors.

NO EXPLANATION YET.

Miss Maud Fryer of Waterbury, Conn., Rendered Comatose.

Waterbury, Conn., Nov. 16.—As the result of a shampooing administered by a Willimantic hairdresser, Miss Maud Fryer lies in a semi-comatose condition with her skin turning purple. The efforts of a half-dozen doctors to arouse her have proven futile. Miss Fryer was to have been married last Saturday. On Tuesday before the wedding-date, she went to the hair dresser for the shampooing.

Whether an experiment was tried or whether there was a deliberate attempt to interfere with the wedding cannot be learned. Her family preserves the utmost reticence.

Miss Fryer emerged from the ministrations of the hairdresser with her hair stuck together as though with glue. The doctors have not yet decided whether this glue contains some deleterious drug which has been absorbed through the scalp, or whether Miss Fryer's collapse is due to the nervous shock caused by the discovery of the condition of her hair.

The young woman has lain speechless and apparently unconscious, with her skin slowly assuming the peculiar purplish tinge which makes her condition so puzzling, that the doctors this afternoon called in a hair specialist. It is understood that the hairdresser will be prosecuted.

CUPID CORRALS MANY COUPLES

Four Notable Weddings This Week in Hopkinsville Society.

WESTENDARP-DABNEY.

Edward Stanley Long, Daniel Joseph Young and A. Buckner Anderson.

Four previously announced weddings, in which Hopkinsville young people were among the high contracting parties, occurred yesterday and last night.

The only marriage solemnized here was that of Mr. Oscar G. Westendarp, of Monterey, Mexico, and Miss Alice Dabney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Dabney, Rev. Jas. E. Scooby, of Lebanon, Tenn., grandfather of the bride, officiated.

The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of the intimate friends of the bride and family, as well as those of the groom, at the beautiful home of the bride's parents, on East Seventh street. The "As You Like It Club," of which the bride is a member, were especially invited guests. Miss Elsie Gant was maid of honor and Miss Sallie George Blakey, Jeanie Graham and Elizabeth Dabney, the sister of the bride, and Master McFarland Wood preceded the groom and his best man, Mr. Robert M. Fairleigh, into the parlor, which had been beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums, ferns and flowers. They marked off with white ribbons the space to be occupied. Then came the bridesmaids, the bride and her maid of honor and took positions in front of Rev. James E. Scooby, who in a few well chosen words united the destinies of the happy young couple.

After receiving the congratulations of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Westendarp drove to the L. & N. station and left for Monterey, Mexico, their future home.

The bride, since her entry into society about a year ago, has been a great favorite and is one of the most accomplished and charming of Hopkinsville's young women.

The groom is a son of Mrs. Anita Westendarp (nee Langstroth) and is a prominent business man of Monterey. His mother and her sisters were reared and educated in Hopkinsville.

Young-Moore.

A beautiful home wedding was that of Mr. Daniel Joseph Young, of this city, and Miss Inez Moore, of Los Angeles, Cal., Wednesday night. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Moore. On account of the critical illness of Rev. Mr. Coulter, an uncle of the bride, only the relatives and closest friends of the family were present. After being made man and wife Mr. and Mrs. Young left for a short bridal trip along the coast, after which they will return to Los Angeles for a few days before starting for Hopkinsville. They will arrive here Dec. 5th and will make their home with Dr. and Mrs. James A. Young, the parents of the groom.

Mrs. Young spent the summer in this city with her aunt, Mrs. Eugene Wood. After her engagement to Mr. Young she returned to Los Angeles to arrange for those little preliminaries which every expectant bride can better do at home than anywhere else. In the meantime whole-souled, liked by everybody "Dan," in preparation for the greatest event of his life, became so absorbed in "business" that his chums and friends sadly missed him from their gatherings. But it soon became known that he was shortly to become a benedict and that his affinity was from the golden shore of California. Dan and his bonnie bride will be gladly welcomed home and all will rejoice that Cupid's plans will not cause us to lose one of our most worthy young men.

Anderson-Bandy.

troth Wednesday night in the presence of a large gathering of the elite of Danville society. The room in which the ceremony was celebrated was ablaze with electric lights and the decorations by the hands of the fair friends of the bride were most beautiful. Nothing had been omitted by the bride's loving mother and her many friends to make the large room an ideal place for the union of the popular young couple. After the beautiful ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Anderson bade farewell to the large gathering and drove to the station, accompanied by many friends and took a train for Chicago. They will visit the principal Eastern cities and Niagara Falls, returning to Danville Dec. 3. They will be at home at Tate Springs, Tenn., Dec. 15th.

Hamby-Haskins.

W. B. Hamby and Mrs. Lillie Haskins, both of North Christian, were married in the county clerk's office Monday. Judge Breathitt performed the ceremony.

Long-Beverly.

Henderson society has been all a flutter for some time over the announced marriage of Miss Sarah Hopkins Beverly to Mr. Edward Stanley Long, of this city, which occurred at the First Presbyterian church, Henderson, last night at half-past eight o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Beverly, of Henderson, and is a young lady of rare personal charms and of a high order of intelligence and a general favorite. In the person of Mr. Long she has won one of Hopkinsville's best young men. For some time he has been Division Collector of Internal Revenue, with headquarters at Henderson. He is the elder son of Mr. E. B. Long, of this city. His father is president of the City Bank. Mr. Long is a young man of fine education, and previous to accepting the position he now holds was one of the most prominent of the younger attorneys of the local bar.

The audience room of the Presbyterian church had been beautifully decorated for the occasion by the friends of the bride. Miss Myra Beverly, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mr. Gabe Long, the groom's brother, was best man. Messrs. Guy Starling and Dave Morgan, of this city, were groomsmen. Sweet little Katherine Cook, a niece of the groom, was one of the flower girls. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Long, Mr. and Mrs. James O. Cook and several other relatives and friends from this city witnessed the beautiful ceremony, in which a ring was used.

Mr. and Mrs. Long left on the 10 o'clock train for Chicago and will visit a number of Northern and Eastern cities before returning to Henderson, where they will make their home for the present.

MAIL ORDER FAKIR.

Who Advertised Cheap Diamonds Disappears.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Charles E. Marshall, who for two weeks conducted a mail order business at 364 Washington Boulevard, offering $50,000 worth of bankrupt jewelry at something like one cent on the dollar, has disappeared.

Col. James E. Stuart, chief inspector of the postoffice, yesterday called at the address mentioned, where he found several hundred copies of newspapers containing Marshall's advertisement, several hundred letters from publishers, and nearly two hundred bills for advertising.

Before Marshall fled it is believed he must have received between $15,000 and $20,000 from persons who thought they could buy diamond rings at $5 each. And he was there only two weeks. Inspector Stuart put a stop order on the rest of the mail.

New Pastors.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 18.—The Fourth avenue and Walnut street Baptist congregation yesterday welcomed new pastors to their new fields of labor. They were the Rev. Dr. Edward Sinclair Alderman, who comes to Fourth avenue, and the Rev. Dr. Henry Alford Porter, who preached at Walnut street. Dr. Alderman is from Yonkers, N. Y., and Dr. Porter is from Oklahoma City. Both are strong men.

DIAMONDS SCARCE

Importer Fall Off Millions of Dollars.

New York, Nov. 20.—The importation of diamonds and other precious stones, for the first ten months of this year showed a decrease of more than $8,000,000 as compared with the corresponding period of last year.

Importers believe that for the entire year the decline will be about $10,000,000. They say that the decrease is chiefly in diamonds. The falling off since the beginning of October has been especially marked. In that month the imports were worth only 40 per cent. of those of the corresponding month of last year. The total valuation of the imported stones this year up to the present month is $30,015,910. In the same period of 1936 the total was $36,791,717.

Postmaster Fined $50.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 19.—H. C. McChord, formerly postmaster of Hampton, Livingston county, who was removed for misappropriating funds pleaded guilty and was fined $50 in the Federal Court at this place. Gus G. Singleton, of Paducah, who denounced an attorney for the creditors for bidding against the daughter of E. Rehkopf, bankrupt, for the homestead, at a referee's sale, was cited for contempt of court, and was dismissed on motion of District Attorney George DuRelle.

Another Rain.

Another heavy rain began to fall early Tuesday night. It rained during the entire night and yesterday morning the temperature was low enough to put tobacco in order. The farmers were anxious for the season as it was about time for them to begin getting ready to market the 1937 tobacco crop so they could get hold of money for Christmas. It will be dull Christmas with no tobacco money on hand.

TOWN OF OLD PEOPLE.

New Burnside, Ill., Enumerates 50 Over 60 Years Old.

Marion, Ill., Nov. 20.—New Burnside, a village of 400 population, east of Marion but a few miles, no doubt has the record as a town of old people. Forty persons are over 60 years of age, thirty-three are between the ages of 60 and 65, seventeen between 75 and 70, five between 70 and 75, and three between 75 and 80; two are 82 years of age, while one, Patrick Redden, is almost 87.

Call Rev. H. C. McGill.

Without a dissenting voice, Rev. H. C. McGill, who has been pastor of the Baptist church in Providence for the past year, was elected to the pastorate for another year at a meeting of the members Wednesday night. Mr. McGill has labored hard and earnestly since he accepted the charge one year ago and has demonstrated his worth as a church organizer, a persevering Christian and a citizen. The action of the body Wednesday night in recalling him by acclamation demonstrates the love and esteem in which he is held by his congregation and is a compliment to his great worth. In electing Mr. McGill for another year it is with the understanding that all of his time will be required by this church and that services will be conducted at the Baptist church every Sunday in the year.—Providence Enterprise.

Farmers began delivering loose tobacco yesterday.

That live wild goose in the window of the Planters Hardware Co., has attracted a great deal of attention, but do not imagine that Sam Owsley, of wild goose fame, captured it. Mr. Ditto broke one of the wings of the bird two years ago and has tamed it.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Giles Dudley arrives in San Francisco to join his friend and distant relative Henry Wilton. Wilton, who is to assist in an important and mysterious task, and who accompanied Dudley on the ferry boat trip into the city, the remarkable resemblance of the two men is noted and commented on by passengers on the ferry. They see a man with snake eyes, which sends a thrill through Dudley. Wilton purchases an explanation of the strange errand Dudley is to perform, but contemplates case him to know it is one of no ordinary means. Wilton, however, has been given an instruction to await his return and about any one who tries to enter.

CHAPTER II.—Outside there is heard shouts and curses and the noise of a quarrel. Henry rushes and at a request the roommates quickly exchange clothes, and he himself out again. Hardly has he gone than Giles is startled by a cry of "Help." He runs out to find some one being assaulted by a half dozen men. He immediately policeman but they are unable to find any trace of a crime.

CHAPTER III.—Giles returns to his room and hunts for some evidence that might explain his strange mission. He finds a map which he endeavors to decipher. He goes to sleep and is awakened by the presence of some one in his room. They grapple and the person demands to know "where is the boy?" His figure intruder. Dudley mistaken for Henry Wilton, and receives a note regarding money to be paid him.

CHAPTER IV.—Dudley is summoned to the morgue and there finds the dead body of his friend Henry Wilton, who had been killed during the fight outside his building of the night before. He gives the name of James Dudley to the corpse, and after partially explaining the case, he takes his friend had been in the morning living. And thus Wilton dies without ever explaining the case. The following morning he was to perform in San Francisco, Dudley, who then a man with the face of a wolf as the murderer of his friend.

CHAPTER V.—In order to discover the secret mission his friend had entrusted to him, Dudley continues his disguise and permits himself to be known as Henry Wilton. He is puzzled over the note he had received asking him to call at the bank for money. In the afternoon, he discovers Knapp, the King of Pige, Dudley, mistaken for Wilton, is employed by Knapp to assist in a stock brokerage deal.

CHAPTER VI.—"Dicky" takes the supposed Wilton to Mrs. Burton's room. Burton discovers that he is not Wilton, and tells him so confidently. A fierce man asks about "the boy." A retainer that Dudley is turned out and a free for all fight follows.

CHAPTER VII.—Giles Dudley, now almost cloaked in a room with Mrs. Burton who makes a confidant of him. He can learn nothing about the case, but his friend further than that it is Tim Terrill and Dicky Meek who are the men.

CHAPTER VIII.—Giles finds a woman in a room. She escapes through a window, and is mystified to find a thing in the building vacant and bare.

CHAPTER IX.—The supposed man carries out his dead friend's work with Knapp and goes to receive orders. He finds the name Horace H. Knapp printed on the envelope. He makes his first order at the office of Detective Coogan, and goes to receive orders. He has his first experience as a capitalist in the Board Room of a Stock Exchange.

CHAPTER X.—Dudley detects some one peeping through the keyhole of his room and recognizes the face of Tim Terrill of the snake eyes. Dudley receives a fictitious note purporting to be from Knapp, the King of Pige, and he readily detects it.

"It's easier to see that now than then," I suggested dryly.

"Humph! yes. But there's something wrong here." He was comparing my list with another in his hand.

"There!" I thought; "my confounded ignorance has made a mess of it."

But I spoke with all the confidence I could assume: "What's the matter, now?"

"Eleven thousand and twelve thousand five hundred make twenty-three thousand five hundred; and here are sales of Omega this morning of thirty-three thousand eight hundred and thirty." He seemed to be talking more to himself than to me, and to be far from pleased.

"How's that? I don't understand."

"I was all in the dark over his musings." I picked up eleven thousand shares in the other Boards this morning, and twelve thousand five hundred through you, but somebody has taken away the other ten thousand." The King of the Street seemed puzzled and, I thought, a little worried.

"Well, you got over twenty-three thousand shares," I suggested contentedly. "That's a pretty good morning's work."

The King of the Street gave me a contemptuous glance.

"Don't be a fool, Wilton. I sold ten thousand of those shares to myself."

A new light broke upon me. I was getting lessons of one of the many ways in which the market was manipulated.

"Then you think that somebody else—the King of the Street broke with a grim smile.

"Never mind what I think. I've got the contract for doing the thinking in this job, and I reckon I can tend to it."

The great speculator was silent for a few moments.

"I might as well be frank with you," he said at last. "You'll have to know something to work intelligently. I must get control of the Omega Company, and to do it I've got to have more stock. I've been afraid of a combination against me, and I guess I've struck it. I can't be sure yet, but when those ten thousand shares were grabbed up on a panicky market, I'll bet there's something up."

"Who is it?" I asked politely.

"They've kept themselves covered," said the King of the Street, "but I'll have them out in the open before the week is over. And then, my boy, you'll see the fair play."

It was a boy, who thrust a letter in to my hand.

"Your name Wilton?" he inquired, still holding on to the envelope.

"Yes."

"That's yours, then. And he was prepared to make a bolt."

"Hold on," I said. "Maybe there's an answer."

"No, there ain't. The bloke as gave it to me said there weren't."

"Well, here's something I want you to deliver," said I, taking up my note to Detective Coogan. "Do you know where the City Hall is?"

"Does I know—what are yer givin' us?" said the boy with infinite scorn in his voice.

"A quarter," I returned with a laugh, tossing him the coin. "Wait a minute."

"Yer ain't had stuff," said the boy with a grin.

I tore open the envelope and read on the sheet that came from it:

"Sell everything you bought—never mind the price. Other orders off."

D. K.

I gasped with amazement. Had Doddridge Knapp gone mad? To sell the Omega was sure to smash the market, and the half-million dollars that had been put into them would probably shrink by two hundred thousand or more if the order was carried out.

I read the note again.

Then a suspicion large enough to overshadow the universe grew up in my mind. I had that Doddridge Knapp had given me a cipher with which he would communicate with me, and I believed, moreover, that he had no idea where I might be at the present moment.

"It's all right, sonny," I said. "Trot along."

"Where's yer letter?" asked the boy, looking anxiously to earn his quarter.

"It won't have to go now," I said coolly. I believed that the boy meant no harm to me, but I was not taking any risks. The boy sauntered down the hall.

"Well, I must look like a sucker if they think I can be taken in by a trick like that," was my mental comment.

I changed the scheme up to my snake-eyed friend and had a poorer opinion of his intelligence than I had hitherto entertained. Yet I was astonished that he should, even with the most hearty wish to bring about my downfall, contrive a plan that would inflict a heavy loss on his employer and possibly ruin him altogether. There was something in that, I could fathom. My grain refused to work in the maze of contradictions and mysteries, plots and counterplots, in which I was involved.

I took my way at last toward the market, and, halting a boy to whom I intrusted my letter to Detective Coogan, walked briskly to Pine street.

CHAPTER XI.

The Den of the Wolf.

The street had changed its appearance in the two or three hours since I had made my way from the Exchange through the pallid, panic-stricken mob. There were still thousands of people between the corner of Montgomery Street and Leidesdorff, and the little alley itself was packed full of shouting, struggling traders.

But there was an air of confidence, almost buoyancy, in place of the gloom and terror that had lowered over the street at noon. Plainly the panic was over, and men were inspired by a belief that "stocks were going up."

I made a few dispositions accordingly. Taking Doddridge Knapp's hint I engaged another broker as a relief to Eppner, a short fat man, with the baldest head I ever saw, a black beard and a hook-nose, whose remarkable activity and scattering charges had attracted my attention in the morning session.

Wallbridge was his name, I found, and he proved to be as intelligent as I could wish—a merry little man, with a joke for all things, and a flow of words that was almost overwhelming.

"Omega? Yes," chuckled the stout little broker, after he had assured himself of my financial standing. "But you ought to have bought this morning, if that's what you want. It was hell popping and the roof giving 'way all at once.' The little man had an abundant stock of profanity which he used unconsciously and with such original variations that one almost forgot the blasphemy of it while listening to him. "You ought to have been there," he continued, "and watched the boys sell 'em out!"

"Yes, I heard you had lively times," "Bullading" he said with coarsening additions in the way of speech and gesture. "If it hadn't been for Decker and some fellow we haven't had a chance to make out yet the bottom of the market would have been resting on the roof of the lower region."

The little man's remark was slightly more direct and forcible, but this will do for a revised version.

"Decker!" I exclaimed, pricking up my ears. "I thought he had quit the market."

As I had never heard of Mr. Decker before that moment this was not exactly the truth, but I thought it would serve me better.

"Decker out of it?" gasped Wallbridge, his bald head positively glistening at the absurdity of the idea. "He'll be out of it when he's carried out."

"I meant out of Omega. Is he getting up a deal?"

The little broker looked vexed, as though it crossed his mind that he had said too much.

"Oh, no. Guess not. Don't think he is," he said rapidly. "Just wanted to save the market, I guess. If Omega had gone five points lower there would have been the sickest times in the Street that we've seen since the Bank of California closed and the shop across the way"—pointing his thumb at the Exchange—"had to be shut up. But maybe it wasn't Decker, you know. That's just what was rumored on the Street, you know."

I suggested that my little broker knew more than he was willing to tell, but I forbore to press him further, and gave him the order to buy all the Omega stock he could pick up under fifty.

In the Exchange all was excitement, and the first call brought a roar of struggling brokers. I could make nothing of the clamor, but my nearest neighbor shouted in my ear:

"A strong market!"

"It looks that way," I shouted back. It certainly was strong in noise.

I made out at last that prices were being held to the figures of the morning's session, and in some cases were fluctuating a trifle.

Forty-five—forty-seven—fifty-five—Omega was going up by leaps. I blessed the forethought that had suggested to me to put a limit on Wallbridge at fifty. The contest grew warmer. I could follow with accuracy the course of the proceedings, but I knew that Omega was bounding up

The call closed amid animation; but the excitement was nothing compared to the scene that had followed the fall in the morning. Omega stood at eighty asked, and answered, and the ship of the stock gamblers was again sailing on an even keel.

The session was over at last, and Wallbridge and Eppner handed me their memoranda of purchases.

"You couldn't pick Omega off the bushes this afternoon, Mr. Wilton," said Wallbridge, wiping his bald head vigorously. "There's fools at all times, and some of 'em were here and ready to drop what they had; but not many. I gathered in six hundred for you, but I had to fight for it."

WILLSON IN CAPITAL.

Will Spend Ten Days Resting and Will See the President.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Gov.-elect Willson and Mrs. Willson arrived here yesterday morning and went at once to the residence of Mr. Justice Harlan, in Euclid street.

Mr. Willson said he had come to Washington for a rest after a strenuous campaign and expected to put in a good deal of the time playing golf at Chevy Chase with his host, who beat him the last time they were on the links together.

"I expect to see the President," said Mr. Willson, "as I shall be here a week or ten days unless called home sooner. But I have not come here on business of any kind, political or otherwise, but merely to visit Justice Harlan, who has been like a father to me."

Lexington Boy Fires Five Shots After Being Blinded.

Georgetown, Ky. Nov. 19.—Though his eyes were full of cayenne pepper, Locke Blakeright, sixteen years old, shot and killed Cobby Chambers, a negro, who attempted to rob him. The boy was employed by a fruit dealer of Lexington, and had disposed of a wagon load of apples on the streets of Georgetown. When warned against possible robbery, he told a bystander that he had his reliable "Bettie" showing his pistol.

It appears that the negro accosted the lad, asking for a ride to Lexington. Shortly thereafter the negro seized Blakeright in his embrace and threw a handful of cayenne pepper into his face and eyes. Grabbing his gun, the youth shot five times, each bullet taking effect.

The negro's body was found near the farm gate of Leo Thomas, about three miles out on the Lexington pike.

OFFICERS MEET.

New Code Submitted and Lack of Funds Discussed.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 20.—The Code Commission of the Kentucky State Guard Association today submitted to Adjutant General Lawrence, Gen. Roger Williams and the three Colonels of the regiments, Col. W. B. Haldeman, Col. J. Embury Allen and Col. Jonett Henry, the draft of the new code, which they have been at work upon for the past week here. The Code Commission is composed of Col. J. Embury, Allen Col. Guy H. Briggs and Major H. H. Denhardt.

The officers went over the new code and thoroughly approved it. It is calculated that it will make about 1,000 pages in book form. The officers recommended to Gov. Beckham that he order it published as soon as possible for the benefit of the service. They were much pleased with the style in which the commission has prepared the work.

For want of funds the State guard may not attend the inauguration of Gov. Willson.

Will Help Beckham.

Parsifal.

Will be at Nashville Nov. 25, matinee and night.

It was in the year of 1859 that the immortal Richard Wagner first conceived his idea relating to the grand possibilities contained in the legend of the "Holy Grail" for a wonderful spectacle and drama. It was not until twenty-five years later, namely, 1882, that his idea was carried out to his satisfaction and the world was given the glorious work of "Parsifal."

It is said that his first intention was to present "Parsifal" simply as a dramatic production, but was induced later to change his mind and produce it in combination music form. By doing so, the world gained two grand productions instead of the one. It will forever remain as the grandest of all music compositions. It will as surely stand for all time as the grandest drama ever written. It requires a trained mind, a cultivated musician, to enjoy the music of Wagner. One must thoroughly understand a thing to equally enjoy it. But the simplest tyro in dramatic experience can understand the exquisite story of "Parsifal" and understanding, cannot fail to enjoy it. It is this very quality, simplicity, of the story, and plot, that endears the play of "Parsifal" to the hearts and souls of all those who witness it. There are no social problems to dissect, neither are there any intricate or mysterious actions seen on the part of any of the characters in the play. But as a spectacle that appeals to the visual senses, as a play that in its very naturalness, soulful heart interest, absorbing and thrilling plot that brings the color to the cheeks with healthy excitement, that quickens the heart's action with every ennobling instinct and interest watching the gradual unfolding of the beautiful story, it stands without a peer in the dramatic firmament. Such is "Parsifal," the play that required a quarter of a century of its author's genius to make it what it is today—the drama of the world.

The Parsifal engagement at Nashville is for two performances, at the Vendome Theatre, Nov. 23, Matinee and night; Seats ordered by mail will be forwarded on receipt of remittance and self-addressed stamped envelope directed to W. A. Sheetz, manager, Vendome Theatre, Nashville, Tenn.

There are good laughs in "My Wife's Family," which will be the attraction at Holland's Opera House Thursday night, Nov. 28. It begins a few minutes after the curtain is rung up on the initial act and continues until the finale.

It's a New Play

The original cast which is much larger and better than that of the average melodrama will be in the new play, "As Told in the Hills" during its engagement at Holland's Opera House soon, which is for one night only.

Reds and yellows all about supersede the greenery. Nature has her artists out fixing up the scenery.

"AFFINITY"

Agents are Indicted in Paducah.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 19.—Indictments against Earl Joynes and Elmore Brown, two prominent young men of Paducah, were returned by the Federal grand jury, charging them with using the United States mails for an illegal purpose. They started up the Kentucky Matrimonial Bureau, and advertised extensively in city newspapers, offering to furnish "affinities" for $1 per head. They had been running less than two weeks, when a Government detective made his appearance and caused a cessation of the operations. The boys claimed that they agreed to refund money in case of dissatisfaction and thought themselves well out of the matter.

Joynes is twenty years old and the son of A. L. Joynes, manager of the Cumberland Telephone Company, Western Kentucky district. Young Brown is twenty-three years of age, and is the son of a well-known clothing man. Each gave $500 bond.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

At Meeting of Home Telephone Co. Tuesday.

The stockholders of the Home Telephone Company held a meeting last Tuesday and transacted general business. The following gentlemen constitute the board of directors:

R. E. Cooper, E. M. Flack, Quint A. Elliott, T. M. Barker, Jr., Frank G. Hoge, Gustav Hirsch, of this city, and L. G. Parker and S. M. Heller, of Louisville.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

TEACHERS HAPPY

Nearly $7,000 Has Come From Frankfort.

Prof. W. E. Gray, superintendent of schools, has at last received the November draft for school money and is ready to pay the teachers. The check was for $6,779.01 and it will all be distributed to the teachers as fast as they can accept it for it. It will help considerably to relieve the financial stringency.
